

Signpost across the field.

Where the path should be - on the diagonal from right to left.

The signpost at the far end, which has been removed and placed in the hedge on the far side of the bridle way.

Where the path should go from the other end of it ie left to right. It is just possible to see a dark line where someone has managed to walk across.

Where the sign post used to be.

Hello Karen

I do hope this is clear, if not please ask. Alan believes this field is owned by Mr Mann, not Blackheath. It is not possible to show but the crop is carrots and the Furrows are very wide and very deep, so almost impossible to walk over. The sign post at the far end has been moved from the verge beside the footpath to the other side of the bridle way and is buried in the bushes so almost invisible.

I will photograph the other disappeared footpaths and mail them to you tomorrow !!
